Folk-pop and indie singer-songwriter Alaina Margaret Droog (she/her) writes edgy tunes with a country flair.

Currently pursuing her artistic dreams in New York City, Alaina Margaret believes in leading a life of incredible adventure. Born and raised in her beloved small-town home of Grafton, North Dakota, her love of music began with her first guitar lessons at age seven. Alaina Margaret's music showcases her ability to connect with people through compassion, sincerity, raw emotion, and charming wit.

Alaina Margaret's tongue-in-cheek songwriting captivates her audience through her genuine talent for acting, comedy, and stage presence. When she's not writing one of her many tortured love songs, you can catch Alaina Margaret performing in New York and dazzling audiences with her latest obsessions through music.
